"Edison Bills Too High" Community Complains

Newly formed utility intervenors group, ACE "Advocates For Consumer Equity" along with Assemblyman Joe Baca's office called a meeting with Southern California Edison officials recently to start communication, seek solutions, and examine the causes of extremely high electric bills, power surges and outages.

Ann Owens, Muhammad Cooper, West Side Community residents after noticing an increase in their electric bills and started comparing bills with their neighbors decided something was wrong in a section of San Bernardino's West Side. Their usage did not warrant in many cases over 100% increase in their utility bills, they called Frances Grice, chairperson of ACE. ACE enlisted the help of Assemblyman Baca who contacted Edison Officials for an emergency meeting. Over 40 persons filled the local NAACP office at the Public Enterprise Center with utility bills in hand. Some of those bills ranged up to $300 and $400. Three Edison Regional Managers, Mike Garner, Jim Burns, and George Barganier were in attendance at the meeting as well as Robert Uribes, Edison's Delivery Supervisor over customer and field services. Each resident wrote out their specific complaint and then turned it over to Edison to be examined.

Edison has provided an 800 number, (800) 655-4555 to call to report your concerns. In addition ACE, has scheduled a follow-up meeting on Tuesday, November 21, 1995, 6:30 p.m. at the Public Enterprise Building.

One Thousand Men To March In Mo Val.

By Cheryl Brown
Black Voice News

Robert Burks and Paul Hurst are trying to keep the spirit of the Million Man March held in Washington D.C. alive. Upon returning from the March, Burks was all fired up when he returned home to discuss the tenets of the March with his brothers, but very few people shared his enthusiasm. The contagious attitude did rub off on his friend Paul Hurst, who would have gone if it was at all possible.

The two of them talked about what it would take to excite and stimulate the other men in the community and they decided on the One Thousand Men Rally.

The Rally has a little different concept but is expected to give the feeling the men felt when they came together in Washington D.C. on October 16th.

"This is not an protest," said, Burks. "This is a awareness, a focus on responsibility and commitment. We are planning to show men united, committed, focused man who are responsible for our own destiny," he said.

The event will be held, on Saturday, November 25, 1995. The marchers will gather at Moreno Valley City Hall and hear the Farrakhan speech from 6:00 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. They will then proceed to Moreno Valley Community Park, for the rally and gathering from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The purpose of the Rally is to showcase the Black businesses and the non-profit organizations in the area. There will also be a voter registration opportunity and information on health care as it affects African Americans.

"We must rethink the way we do things," said Burks. "Some of us are too ashamed to ask where can they buy some sweet potato pie when they come into a new place. We are afraid of our culture. We are afraid of our own Black owned businesses. We don't support them and that has to stop. If we don't support them who else will? We can do this for ourselves. Maybe then we can have jobs for our children and they can be successful because they have role models too," he said.

Burks says, "Black people have taken everyone else's medicine now its time to take Black medicine to cure the ills of our community."

Volunteers are needed. For information call 909-243-8567.

Fundraiser To Help Katherine Dunham Museum Recognizes Women

By Cheryl Brown
Black Voice News

Women in Los Angeles County will be recognized in a fund-raising effort to benefit the Katherine Dunham East St. Louis Museum on Sunday, November 19, 1995 at the Crown Plaza Hotel 3540 South Figueroa Street in Los Angeles, beginning at 12 p.m.

"When I heard of the plight of the museum I felt a responsibility to do something," said Riverside resident Bill Collier, the event organizer. "I remember what Katherine Dunham did in East St. Louis, finding young unwed mothers and gang members and the downtrodden and giving them hope through dance."

Dunham went on the mission to change the streets of East St. Louis. She formed a mentoring group that included artists from around the world. Harry Belefonte was a visiting professor. She developed the training center. Free classes were offered at her museum in dance, hair braiding woodcarving, Martial Arts and other areas. The center which is designed to keep young people off the street has fallen on hard times and now the 86 year old Dunham is going on the lecture tour. Her museum is run down because there is no money to hire the essential staff for its upkeep.

"That's why we must do our part, she has given so much to our nation and the world, I must respond," said Collier who recently retired from Rockwell after 32 years.

Dunham was born in Chicago where she studied Caribbean and African cultures and dance at the University of Chicago. She formed a dance company that has been successful all over the world. She choreographed "Aida" for the Metropolitan Opera and musicals such as "Cabin In The Sky." She has appeared in several films including "Stormy Weather" and "Carnival of Rhythm." She later taught at the University of Illinois.

Her studio attracted students such as Marlon Brando and James Dean among the most famous.

Spirited Black Women of Los Angeles County will feature, The Fabulous Forty Plus Models, Patricia Bell Models, and vocalist Nachaka. The social hour will be from 12 noon to 2:00 p.m. for the honorees, with the performance at 2:30 p.m.

One of the Spirited Black Women of Los Angeles County will be Melba Minter, mother of co-publisher Cheryl Brown. Mrs. Minter has been active in the Democratic party, and is a 30 year teacher of the Headstart Program.

The donation is $30.00 per person, for information call: (909) 789-8317, or (310) 412-5076.

Perris Recreation Director Faye Shirley Fired

By Cheryl Brown
Black Voice News

Faye Shirley, the City of Perris Recreation Director was fired recently following a one month investigation into the charges of racism, favoritism, and general mismanagement of the department. In a memo according to Harvey Rose, City Manager, she was fired because of her "inability to communicate with constituents and subordinate. (And an) absence of business and accounting systems in the recreation department." According to citizens, for ten years Shirley ran the recreation program without regard to people in general and especially Blacks and Hispanics.

Black Voice News uncovered allegations of racism in the story dated September 28, 1995, although Shirley would not return our calls she told the Press Enterprise she didn't play favorites. A former employee, Anthony Lloyd told Black Voice Shirley slapped him when he was talking on the phone giving information on a matter she instructed him to do. She hauled off and slapped him. Shirley told Press Enterprise that she accidentally brushed him and immediately apologized. Lloyd has a different version. She slapped him. There were other charges of racism that involved, Tom Houston, the Boxing Coach and preferential treatment for a White child over a Black child.

Rita Peters, of CRY a community watchdog group said, "Its taken one year and a half, educating the citizens of the City of Perris as to what has been allowed to transpire over the years. It has taken a year of gathering documents but it was worth it. And we are not finished. Next will be an investigation of the secret checkbook, from which public monies has gone out. Then the Boy Scout monies being diverted and why three councilmembers voted against a new recreation director."

The group plans to now turn its attention to the City Council members who ignored the people's pleas for help in the Recreation Department, year after year and who were surprised at the findings when each had been given a 100 page document with reports by 15 past/present employees.

Ghana Researchers Discover Plants Potent Against HIV

ACCRA, Ghana (PANA) - A Ghanaian researcher claims he has found four plants which have "selective activities" against the Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) that causes AIDS, the Ghana News Agency reported recently.

The agency quoted Dr. Nana Ayisi, a senior research fellow with the Nogouchi Memorial Institute of Medical Research, as saying that laboratory investigations conducted into seven plants showed that they had a strong potential as a treatment for infectious viral diseases.

The four which work against HIV are active even under laboratory conditions, he said.

Ayisi, a veterinary surgeon, said while most of his work had been in the laboratory, he has done clinical trials with some AIDS patients in the nation's eastern region.

The next experimental stage will be to combine the different plants to see their reaction on HIV.

Ayisi said experimental stage will be to combine the different plants and poliomyelitis, yellow fever and measles.

Along The Color Line: The Million Man March

Part I of a II Part

“There is a great divide, but the real evil in America is not White flesh or Black flesh. The real evil in America is the idea that undergirds setup of the Western world, and that idea is called White supremacy....” Louis Farrakhan declared in his two-hour keynote special before the largest public demonstration of African-Americans in United States history. On October 16th, hundreds of thousands of Black; men from across America gathered in Washington, DC, in front of the Capitol. The U.S. Parks Service conservatively estimated the crowd at 4000,00. Independent observers placed the demonstration between 600,000 to over one million people. By all accounts, the “Million Man March” of 1995 paired by comparison the historical 1963 March on Washington, led by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., at the height of the Civil Rights Movement a generation ago.

It is to Farrakhan's credit that he recognized the deep emotional and cultural crisis which is at the heart of the African-American community today. African-Americans who participated in the gathering all described a deep sense of fellowship and a community of common feeling. Men wept openly, embracing each other, committing themselves to new levels of personal and civic engagement. Many participants explained to the media that they had not come to Washington, DC, in Support of Farrakhan's political agenda. Rather, they were there to express a deep desire for the national Black community to come together, in a process of healing and binding its wounds.

In one opinion poll, 85 percent of all African-Americans expressed support for “The A Million Man March.” Thousands of people returned to their homes with a renewed dedication to participate in Black organizations and institutions. For example, although the National Urban League and its affiliates refused to endorse the March, many Blacks returning from the mobilization contacted this moderate civil rights organization to volunteer their services.

Farrakhan's call for the march had prominently included a demand for “atonement,” that African-Americans should recognize “wrongs done and to make amends,” and to apologize for all offenses “against the Creator.” March organizers claimed that the crisis confronting African-American males was so intense that they needed to reclaim their own “manhood” by and for themselves. A mass public gathering of Black men would represent a symbolic challenge to the White power structure. The March agenda spoke relatively little about contemporary public policy issues, such as Affirmative-Action, immigration and/or welfare reform. It emphasized the need for Blacks to assume “personal responsibility” for their own circumstances, and challenged African-American males to provide leadership for their families and communities.

This successful demonstration of mass support instantly capitulated Farrakhan as a significant figure in Black and national politics as media and public leaders hastily attempted to draw a distinction between “the March” and “the messenger.” General Colin Powell, for example, explained, “while I deplore the message of Minister Farrakhan, I cannot ignore what's happening in the presence of several hundred thousand African-Americans who care about themselves, care about their future, care about the future of this country.” President Clinton delivered a major address on race relations at the same time of the March, although at a safe distance, more than one thousand miles away in Austin, Texas. Clinton declared, “today's march is... about pride and dignity and respect—but after a generation of deepening social problems that disproportionately impact Black Americans. It is also about Black men taking renewed responsibility for themselves, their families and their communities. It's about saying no to crime and drugs and violence. It's about standing up for atonement and reconciliation.” Many conservative Republicans also actively praised the self-help/ atonement thesis of Farrakhan. The New York Times editorial predictably condemned Farrakhan, but praised the “spirit of goodwill” and the “sober assessment of the continued damage that racism is doing in American society.”

Despite its popularity, the March never received unanimous support among Black Americans. Many prominent Black feminists, including scholar/political activist Angela Davis and economist Julian Malveaux, publicly condemned the March's position that women could not participate. Many Black gay men were turned off by Farrakhan's homophobia, such as his 1993 statement that “we must change homosexual behavior and get rid of the circumstances that bring it about.” Many politicians and Black progressives had also criticized the March for not aggressively attacking the Republicans' “Contract With America.” Although many feel that these are not significant issues, one must keep in mind that sometimes the majority can be wrong. In 1991, the majority of African-Americans favored the appointment of Clarence Thomas to the United States Supreme Court. Thomas's subsequent conservative tenure has represented a disaster for Black people. Although the brothers who came to Washington, DC should be embraced and applauded, we need to remember that popularity by itself is no guarantee that the masses are pointed in the right direction. The real question which must be faced is: What happens next?

Dr. Manning Marable is Professor of History and Director of the Institute for Research in African-American Studies, Columbia University, New York City. “Along the Color Line” appears in over 275 newspapers and is featured by 80 radio stations across the US and internationally.

Business, Community And Political Leaders Stand-Up For San Bernardino

More than 2,000 citizens, business leaders, politicians and clergy recently assembled in front of city hall on Monday to Stand-Up for San Bernardino and tell the world about the good news in San Bernardino.

With reporters and television cameras from Channels, 2 (KCBS), 3 (KCSB), 4 (KNBC), 7 (KABC), and 9 (KCAL), a diverse group of speakers, poets and singers told the over 1,500 spectators about the great things that San Bernardino has to offer.

Ron Schipper was the master of ceremonies at the rally. The event began on a somber note as Rabbi H. Cohen led the crowd in a moment of silence, then prayer for slain Israeli leader Yithak Rabin.

After that the mood turned upbeat as African-American singer Jubel Obien delivered a stunning rendition of the Star Spangled Banner. "It was the best rendition I have heard," said former city council person Mike Maudsly. His sentiments were echoed by the crowd who gave Obie a rousing round of applause.

The idea for the "Stand-Up For San Bernardino" Rally and Press Conference was developed by community business leaders lead by Ralph Affaitati, Sam Catalano and Carl Dameron of the San Bernardino Downtown Business Association. Other community leaders quickly joined the efforts including the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce, the City School District, the NAACP, and many others.

"Our goal was to tell the citizens of our community and the world about the good news we have here in San Bernardino," said Dameron, President of Dameron Communications and Secretary of the San Bernardino Branch of the NAACP.

Mayor Minor's theme for the Day was "We Have Good News For San Bernardino." He spoke before the largest crowd ever for this kind of event. Among the things he told the participants and media that:

"Year to date crime statistics are down. Since 1991 Murder in San Bernardino is down 23%, Aggravated Assaults are down 35%; and Burglary is down 17%...

We've got more good news. Our region has added over 10,000 new jobs in the past two years. The City of San Bernardino with the help of the Economic Development Agency, and the Inland Valley Development Agency have added over 3,000 new jobs to our community in the last 18 months..."

Local media including The Sun Newspaper, Hispanic News, Precinct Reporter, Black Voice News, Westside Story, San Bernardino American, Colton Courier, El Chicago, Rialto Record, and radio stations 99.1 (KGGI), 99.9, 1440

(KDIF), 1290 (KMEN), 95.5 (KFROG), 1070 (KNX) and 92.7 (OJ), covered the event.

"We are here to set the record straight," says Ralph Affaitati, President of Affaitati Construction. "We are a city with a lot of diversities; that is not a weakness, that is our strength. There is simply far more to San Bernardino than what people are being told."

"This is just the first step on our road to rebuilding our reputation," says Judi Thompson, Executive Director of the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce. "Now we have to roll up our sleeves and continue to work as a team to increase employment and decrease crime," she added.

Those persons willing to join in the efforts to improve our city should call The San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce at (909) 885-7515 or the San Bernardino Downtown Business Association at (909) 884-0106.

Our Bodies

By Dr. Ernest Levister, M.D.

DEAR DR. LEVISTER: I recently started menstruating. I am 14 years old and active in sports. My mother refuses to allow me to wear tampons for fear of toxic shock syndrome. Are tampons safe? K.H.

DEAR K.H.: The incidences of toxic shock syndrome (TSS) dropped dramatically after cellulose and polyester tampons were removed from the market, but TSS has not disappeared. Hundreds of cases are diagnosed every year. Now there is a tampon that may further reduce the potential health risk. Sold under the brand name, Terra Femme and Natracare, the Swedish imports recently arrived in the United States. The American Medical Association says they are safer, because they are made of 100% surgical grade cotton. Unlike the rayon and rayon-cotton blends that make up most tampons here, cotton does not promote the growth of bacteria that causes toxic shock.

There are other benefits as well. Most tampons are bleached with chlorine, which can leave dioxin residue; dioxin has been linked to some cancers. Terra Femme tampons are cleansed with peroxide, which means they don't contain dioxins. Users report they are just as effective and easy to use as other tampons and they don't dry out vaginal walls as some regular tampons can. At around $6.00 a box of 20, however, they are more expensive than other brands. Terra Femme and Natracare are currently available at health food stores and some specialty pharmacies.

What can you do to reduce the risk of getting TSS? You can entirely avoid the risk of getting tampon associated TSS by not using tampons. If you choose to use tampons, you can reduce your risk of getting menstrual TSS by using the lowest absorbency that meets your menstrual flow needs. Tampons are available in four absorbency ranges: Junior, Regular, Super or Super Plus absorbency. Though your needs will depend on your individual flow, you should change your tampons at least four times a day. You should leave a tampon in for no more than six hours.

You can also reduce your risk by alternating tampons with the use of feminine napkins during your period, such as Stay Free or Sure and Natural. For example, you might want to use tampons during the day and napkins at night.

New Hope MBC Male Chorus Holds Evening Program

The New Hope Missionary Baptist Male Chorus presented Sunday, Evening, November 12, 1995 male music groups from various Inland Empire churches. The program began with a rendition of "This Little Light of Mine" that involved the audience and the host of singing responsive parts to each other. Bros. Morris Walker and Elijah Weaver sang the theme of the evening "Let Us Sing 'Till the Power of the Lord Comes Down." Master of Ceremonies Bro. Tommy Smith masterfully did his job.

The 16th Street S.D.A., "Sons of Glory" sang "Ill Fly Away" acappella. Booker Anderson of St. Paul AME, San Bernardino, led "Wonderful" as only he could do. Allen Chapel's Harvey M. Edwards Male Chorus told of being covered by his Blood." New Joy M.B. Male Chorus

New Hope Male Chorus

Hunt and Jerelean Gaston, of the music staff along with Pastor LeMar Foster, Sr., are all most grateful for the attendance and participation of those who supported this annual affair -- Praise God!

T'keyah Keymah Continues To Reach For The Stars

By Stanton Allen Weeks
Black Voice Entertainment

As the male alumnus from In Living Color have moved on to very successful film careers, we would expect nothing less from the leading lady T'keyah Crystal Keymah. However, its the stage and television that are benefitting from this talented and versatile actress. If the memorable and acclaimed recurring roles on On Our Own and The John Larroquette Show didn't secure for her old and new fans then it must have been her award winning one-woman stage production, Some Of My Friends. Using her talents of character creation exercised during her In Living Color days, T'keyah transforms herself into 11 distinct characters. This production garnered NAACP awards in the categories of Best Actress and Best Play. Plans are also in the works for a film version of this phenomenal performance. Fresh off of the stage of Robert Townsend's The Five Heartbeats, T'keyah quickly made her feature debut as executive producer of her first motion picture One Last Time. Teaming up with the extraordinary Bob Mardis, who wrote, directed, and produced the film has been exciting and challenging. This partnership has already lead them to Houston Worldfest International Film Festival for the receipt of the Silver Star Award. But it doesn't stop there the two have paired again in the production of a television movie Circle Of Pain This movie airing on Showtime in February was written and directed by Mardis and stars Todd Bridges, Glynn Turman, and Anna Marie Horsford. With this busy schedule as actress, producer singer and dancer its difficult to imagine that this beautiful woman equipped with talent and tenacity finds the time to be charitable, T'keyah sponsors a child through "Childreach" and is active with Concerned Citizens of South Central in addition to caring for teen cancer patients with "My Good Friend." As you see she isn't afraid to step up and take responsibility and charge of any situation or classification. With a book and a newsletter being published Ms. Keymah leaves no road untraveled, no rock unturned, and there is no star that she hesitates to reach for.

D'Angelo Jams At House Of Rock

By Rahsaan Scott
BVN Staff Writer

There is something about seeing large numbers of well-dressed, well-behaved Blacks in one area just having a good time. No guns, drugs, nor obscenities, just everyone focusing on one thing...having a good time.

Place this group of Blacks into a room with Caucasians and Latinos, dim the lights, turn the smoke machine on and put a live band on stage, back-up singers included, and introduce one of generation X's hottest up-in-coming artist and you have the start of a pretty live party.

Riverside's own House of Rock, 3742 Park Sierra Drive, is not to be confused with Dan Ackroyd's House of Jazz. HOR is becoming the Inland Empire's new hot spot for Generation Xers.

On Friday, November 10th, musical artist D'Angelo, made a stop at HOR. Accompanied by his band, and three back-up singers, D'Angelo played a number of songs off of his debut album Brown Sugar including his new single Cruisin and Gold Single hit Brown Sugar (named after his album). Displaying all the talent of a young Prince, who he is often compared to, D'Angelo sat in front the packed house playing piano and singing to the crowd's delight. At one point the crowd was so caught up in the music that a woman jumped on stage wrapped her arms around his neck and planted a kiss on his cheek before being removed by security. D'Angelo displaying the self-assuredness and mannerisms of LL Cool J turned his head slightly towards the over zealous fan puckered his lips slightly and slyly winked his eye, while never missing a beat.

The show lasted only about 45 minutes, but all in attendance left satisfied. Although D'Angelo doesn't dance, or rap, he does put on a show for the audience with his back up singers and live band

Bruins Lose To Washington, Regrouping For Trojans

THE RECORD WILL HAVE TO WAIT: Karim Abdul-Jabbar hurt his ankle and his teammates couldn't pick up the slack. Photo by Paul Alvarez-BVN

Abdul-Jabbar hurt in 38-14 loss to Huskies.

By ANTHONY CARTER
BVN Staff Writer

PASADENA - The stage was set. Bowl scouts were watching and waiting. UCLA needed only to win its last two games and a major bowl bid would be awaiting them.

Now, on to reality. At the Rose before 50,104, the Bruins saw their bowl hopes wilt, following a 38-14 loss to the Washington Huskies (5-1-1 in Pac-10, 6-3-1 overall).

Besides the bowl positioning, this game represented an opportunity for three Bruins to break records.

Tailback Karim Abdul-Jabbar came into the contest needing only three carries to break

Freeman McNeil's single season school record of 271. Receiver Kevin Jordan needed just nine yards to overtake J.J. Stokes' career record of 2,469. Coach Terry Donahue was one victory away from becoming the winningest coach in Pac-10 league play, with 98.

If, and only if, the Bruins (3-4, 6-4) can continue their magic against their cross-town rival - USC - this Saturday at the Coliseum, they can bring their league record to .500 and keep their bowl hopes alive.

"We have to consider the game as our bowl game, because there's a strong possibility we might not go anywhere after this," said tailback Thaddeus Massey. "It's been a long, hard three years."

That may all change if Abdul-Jabbar, who was injured on his very first carry and didn't return, is not able to play against USC. James Milliner and Massey will be called on to carry the load.

Also, freshman quarterback Cade McNown will have to right himself after a sub-par showing against the Huskies.

"He made some very crucial turnovers and mistakes," Donahue said, "but, he wasn't supported by the offensive line. I was surprised how their defensive front controlled the game."

Added linebacker Tommy Bennett: "The turnovers did affect the momentum and morale of the team, but I'm not putting it all on the offense though. The defense gave up to many big plays, too."

UCLA's first seven possessions resulted in merely seven points, with three punts and three interceptions. As a result the halftime score was 28-7 for the Huskies.

After halftime the first three Bruin's possessions resulted in two punt and a fumble. So, it's not surprising that with 6:25 remaining in the third quarter, UCLA found itself down 38-7.

Although Abdul-Jabbar and Donahue denied the records, receiver Kevin Jordan did.

Jordan, who caught 3 passes for 33 yards, all from backup quarterback Ryan Fien, who replaced McNown, he could find no joy in his historic accomplishments.

"It's hard to enjoy the record with a loss," Jordan said. "I expected the victory so we could celebrate mine and Coach Donahue's together."

So it's off to the Coliseum to play cross-town rival USC, and possibly enact a measure of respect.

"We are going to beat USC and get a bowl bid for all the seniors on this team," said Avery Anderson, the ex-Riverside North star. "We're much better than we played today,"

CIF PLAYOFFS START THIS Week

Led by unbeaten Riverside North, Fontana, Norco and San Bernardino Cajon, CIF playoffs are in full swing.

RIVERSIDE - The heat is on!

For the youth in the Inland Empire who have labored during two-a-days and a 10 game season, all the hard work was been rewarded with a berth in the Southern Section California Interscholastic Federation football playoffs. But when the dust clears in a few weeks, only one will stand at the top of the eleven division competing for football glory.

In division 4, an all Inland Empire division, there are three undefeated teams - Riverside North (10-0), Norco (10-0) and San Bernardino Cajon (10-0) - that are on a collision course for destiny.

North, led by All-American Chris Claiborne, who has rushed for 1,315 yards and 23 touchdowns and coach Mark Paredes, who has a two year record of 18-3-2 at the Huskies' helm, is the number 1 seed. Having won its first out right league title in 24 years, the Huskies season can already be deemed a success, but the division title will add the icing on the cake.

"I knew we had a good chance to win the league this year, its just a question on if everyone was willing to work hard enough for it," said North lineman Ryan Brock. "It's been a big turn around for us this year from the previous years. We are shooting for the title, but if we don't get it our season will not be a failure."

Added Dung Le: "I think we felt in our hearts we could do this, but we don't want it to stop here."

Chimed in North receiver defensive back Sam Brandon: "It was up to us whether we were going to win or lose, but 10-0, it is somewhat of a surprise. Our goal was to win the league and our second goal was to win the CIF, so we are where we want to be... in position to accomplish it. That's all we could hope for."

Norco on the strength of running back Reggie Williams 1,573 yards rushing and quarterback Andy Whieldon's passing, finished 10-0 for the third time in four years. Coach Gary Campbell, who earlier in the season won his 200 game, has assembled another super offensive line that will

San Bernardino Cajon (10-0), who avenged last years loss to Barstow last week, 40-13, is shooting for a rematch with North, who beat them in the playoffs last year.

Fontana (10-0) and Rialto Eisenhower (8-2) are competing in Division 1 and possess two of the better defenses in the Southland.

Fontana led by receiver/defensive back R. Jay Soward Jr. quarterback P.J. Guerrero, back Art Gipson, tight end Chris Alex and linebacker Angelmo Zamano, are coming off a 12-0 win over rival Eisenhower.

Although Fontana is ranked No. 1 in Division 1, they are not taking anything for granted.

"We just want to take one game at a time," Soward said. "I'm not surprised at the way things went this year. We have great coaches and players, and we play like we are coached."

One team to look out for is the Rubidoux Falcons. Blessed with magnificent team speed and led by maturing quarterback Darryl Knight and Back Orshawante Bryant, the Falcons could be the sleeper team in the playoffs.

"I think we have come together as a team and will be a force to deal with," said Bryant. "We have the team and coaches to go a long ways in the playoffs. I'm just going to make sure I'm prepared and do what I know I can do when my number is call."

Boy's Volleyball Team

SAN BERNARDINO - "Sports has always been a vehicle for us to come away from our problems," said Georgetown coach John Thompson. "So why ignore it?"

Well, at San Bernardino's Martin Luther King Jr. High School, it's not being ignored.

Sports are a proven method for enacting discipline, teaching team work and learning about the value of competition.

Football, track and basketball have been the main vehicles for inner-city youth to channel their energy and youthfulness into a positive direction.

But King is expanding the sporting base and opportunities of its youth through volleyball.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Exploring Black America

A way to explore Black America is to stop by Wilberforce University whose archives and occasional exhibits testify to an autonomous Black initiative dating Black to antebellum times. Look in particular for any exhibit that examines the exemplary life of Daniel Alexander Payne (1811-1893). This freeborn South Carolinian spoke Latin, Greek, and French guided the most outstanding school for Black children in his home state (until the state in 1834 passed a law forbidding African-Americans to be taught to read and write) and led the African Methodist Episcopal Church to purchase Wilberforce University whose president he was for 13 years.

Greene County which lies but 50 miles north of Cincinnati has much to offer beyond its Black heritage. Families in search of a good time (with just the slightest soupcon of history thrown in) will enjoy both Clifton Mill and the Blue Jacket Drama. Historic Clifton Mill dates Black to 1802 and, at six stories six as then that largest grist mill in existence. Even today it is quite a sight the more so as it overlooks Clifton Gorge. It is also quite a sound - the gentle creaking of the mill wheel and the gurgle of water over the spillway soothe the soul. The gift shop offers antiques and old-fashioned candy and toys: the restaurant offers whole - grain bread homemade pies and corn bread and pancakes—all made from grain ground on the premises. visitors who arrive during the Christmas season receive an added bonus: the country's largest collection of Santa Clauses (2,000 of them), a 300-foot waterfall of lights a life-size manger scene and the best Christmas light display in the entire country, with a quarter of a million lights blazing.

In Xenia the Blue Jacket Drama entices visitors with a compelling re-creation of the Indian-settler conflict that transformed the old Northwest Territory from Eden into a series of congressional districts, in the process displacing the Shawnee. Miami, Delaware and other native peoples. It also introduces visitors to one of the most unusual Indian war leaders of the day Blue Jacket—a White man who not only captured Daniel Boone, but who had an African-American as one of his chief aides. Assisted by a runaway slave named Caesar, whose death in battle some years later would leave its trace in the naming of Caesar's Creek, Blue Jacket and the various "septs" (bands) of Shawnee fought to keep Ohio red.

Today, on the ground crossed by Caesar's Creek, 50 actors armed with flintlocks and flaming arrows take part in the Blue Jacket Drama, re-enacting the struggle to keep lacrosse America's national pastime and entertaining all of those fortunate enough to be in Greene County to see it.

The Underground Railroad Experience

Dunbar's suit lays on his bed.

His extensive library is still intact.

By Cheryl Brown
Part III

A Visit To The Home Of Paul Dunbar

The trip on the Underground Railroad continues. There is a way to explore the path the slaves took when they escaped into freedom, recently we took 400 miles of that approximately 1000 mile trip my ancestors took, a trip that took months for them traveling from safe house to safe house evading the Slave Catchers. To walk in the footsteps of the courageous men, women and children who risked their lives for freedom was an emotional experience. As your "Conductor" I invite you to continue the journey.

There were many stops on my Underground Railroad trip that merely showed the heritage of the area, but some of our stops were to break the intensity of the journey. One such place, was the Historic Clifton Mill. There is no proof that this was a stop on the way to freedom, however, the mill dates back to 1802 and was critical during the Civil War. It is the largest grist mill in existence, it is an overwhelming site to visit. During the Civil War the mill had to be burned down because the Confederate soldiers stole the flour for their troops. So as to not aid them in the war the mill was destroyed. Following the war the mill was rebuilt.

It was at this mill that the group met Paul Lawrence Dunbar, (Dr. Herbert Woodward Martin) the famous poet, who was the son of an escaped slave.

Dayton, Ohio, just 20 miles from Wilberforce, was the home of Dunbar, who was made famous by William Howells, the dean of American literary critics. It was Dunbar's second book, Majors and Minors, which caught the attention of Howells. It was his favorable review in Harper's Weekly that made Dunbar a national figure literally overnight.

Dunbar died at the age of 33 from Tuberculosis and a broken heart. He had published four books of short stories, a variety of song lyrics and thirteen books of poetry.

Dunbar was born in 1872 to Mitilda, a former slave and Joshua Dunbar, who had escaped from slavery and fled to Canada probably taking the same route we were on. He returned to the United States as did many heroes to fight in the Civil War, and end slavery, (his mother was enslaved in the deep south) he joined the 55th Massachusetts Infantry, an all Black Civil War unit.

The family was poor and because Joshua could not find steady work after the war, Matilda, took in washing to keep the food on the table, while Paul and his two half brothers performed odd jobs to make ends meet.

It was his mother who instilled inspiration, gave support and told stories to her him "the most promising young colored man in America."

The sentiment expressed by Douglas was the echoed by Dr. H.A. Tobey, the superintendent of the Toledo State Hospital. He had struck up a friendship with him after reading Oak and Ivy. Along with Toledo attorney Charles Thatcher, Dr. Tobey provided the money to publish Dunbar's second book, Majors and Minors.

Following Howells' review in Harper's the publishing firm Dodd Mead and Company combined Dunbar's first two books and published them under the title, Lyrics of a Lowly Life, for which Howells wrote the introduction.

He went on tour to England. When he returned he married another writer, Alice Ruth Moore of New Orleans and settled down, took a job at the Library of Congress in Washington D.C. He had already contracted Tuberculosis and the dust of the library worsened the condition. Although he was under doctor's orders to rest, he devoted his time to writing and lecturers.

The happiness that he felt in his success as a writer was also his nemesis. He was an excellent writer and the only thing anyone wanted to buy or hear was the Negro dialect. No one wanted to recognize his talent. His life and his work were becoming symbolic of the Negro struggle in America. He often wrote and spoke about civil rights issues. One famous piece was "We Wear The Mask".

Dunbar's health and his marriage declined and he died at his home in 1906 at the age of 33.

With his success he was able to purchase his mother the home, where he died. His mother died in 1934. It was restored to the original look at the turn of the century by order of the Ohio Legislature. His boar hair toothbrush is in the cup in the bathroom. His suit on the bed, his mother's cookie making bowl in the pantry and his beautiful library of books in tact. Also on display is his bicycle built by the Wright Brothers. Visitors must have a buckeye from his tree in the yard. The same tree he loved so much.

The history of an enslaved people who have only been free a little over 100 years to some just a lifetime, continues to unfold. As the trip back in history of the Underground Railroad continues.

We Wear The Mask

By Paul Lawrence Dunbar

We wear the mask that grins and lies,
It hides our cheeks and shades our eyes, -
This debt we pay to human guile;
With torn and bleeding hearts we smile,
And mouth with myriad subtleties.

Why should the world be overwise,
In counting all our tears and sighs?
Nay, let them only see us, while
We wear the mask.

We smile, but, O great Christ, our cries
To thee from tortured souls arise.
We sing, but oh the clay is vile Beneath our feet,
and long the mile;
But let the world dream otherwise,
We wear the mask!

sons. She instilled in him a desire to achieve. That is just what he did. He was only six years old when he wrote his first poem and he recited poetry at the age of nine.

As he grew his reputation grew he was the only Black student in his class at Central High School in Dayton. He was named to the school's debating society and became president of the prestigious Philomathean Literary Society. He edited the school newspaper and wrote for various Dayton community newspapers. He graduated Valedictorian of his class. Among his classmates and good friends were Orville and Wilbur Wright. The Wright brothers and Dunbar each published their own newspapers.

With all he had going for him he still could not find a job because of his race. He finally landed a job as an elevator operator in the Callahan Building located in the city and supplemented his salary by freelance writing. in various national publications. His reputation grew and local people recognized him and he was invited to speak at events. By the age of 22 he published his first book of poetry, Oak and Ivy. As a writer he struggled for financial independence, he wrote for magazines he sold his poetry book for a dollar.

It was at the 1893 World's Fair, that he met Frederick Douglas, who was in charge of the Haitian exhibit. Douglas gave Dunbar a job after hearing him recite his poetry and called

Dr. Herbert Woodward Martin shows an uncanny resemblance to Dunbar. He recites his work.
